EDITORIAL

small town boy to world leader

The death of General Eisenhower has saddened the nation.

'Ike' became president because he was a military hero.

But he was more than that.

He had that unique quality which endeared him to almost everyone. Vast authority did not make him arrogant. In fact, he had that humbleness of spirit that made him respected by those in the highest places, as well as those in the lowest.

Heads of state or the lowliest GI — it made no difference.

A man like this doesn't come along often.

Was it because he was born and raised in Abilene, Kansas, in the American heartland, in a large family of the most average circumstances?

This fact no doubt was a key to his personality, and his even perspective on problems great and small.

But somehow he translated this kind of background into something much more; his military training at West Point was integrated into his philosophy of life, and did not dominate it.

And he became a highly responsible person, one whom others came to respect instantaneously. That is why he was plucked from the ranks, a lowly lieutenant colonel, by Gen. George C. Marshall, and made the American commander of our first expeditionary force in World War II — the troops that were engaged in North Africa.

He proved his mettle in adversity, and rose to the most exalted military rank, that of commander of all Allied forces facing the German Armies on the continent of Europe.

Few men in all of history have held such a lofty command; and the forces under his command may well have been the most ever entrusted to one human being.

He welded the diverse troops from many nations into fighting units that completely vanquished the Nazi Armies.

The esteem in which he was held became worldwide, and not just because he was the victorious general.

And because of this every highest honor continued to be his.

He commanded the peace (NATO) forces in Europe, all of the American military forces, and headed one of our greatest universities, Columbia University in New York City.

The presidency was inevitable. He was accused of being an indifferent president by many; those who knew him best understood that he governed not by personal dominance, but by delegating to responsible aides, and by an unsurpassed second sense of what can be done, and what cannot.

Few can say that the Eisenhower years were not marked by an era of tranquility, one of the few the nation has ever enjoyed.

Many of America's greatest leaders have come from small communities, such as we have here in Carmel Valley. There is something about living at "grass roots" level which never can be found in our urban centers; the neighborhood, the family life, the togetherness of man and nature.

The life of Dwight D. Eisenhower started thusly.

PERSPECTIVE

Do you remember....

Ten years ago this week

Mrs. T.B. McKiernon is commended for handling phone calls and maintaining liason between the Carmel Red Cross chapter and the Valley during the blood drive.

Jim Large has a pair of torn trousers after being chased over the fence by a bull in La Rancheria where he was showing a client some land.

Will the Valley pull its head out of the sand and face the future? So asks the Valley News concerning the re-routing of the present C.V. Road.

Gen. R.O. Bare, president of the C.V. Property Owners Ass'n. has appointed the following chairmen of standing committees, Zoning, Paul Jones; River, Dr. Grant Fletcher; Roads, Gen. E.J. Dawley; Membership, Mrs. Joseph Carter; Parks and Recreation, George Seidenbeck. Mrs. Lester Borchers is continuing as chairman of the Steering Committee on the proposed recreation district.

A kind friend of Willard Fay's has offered him some tranquilizers for use on the opening night of Will's Fargo.

The Candlelight Guild of the Community Chapel held a surprise "come as you are" coffee early in the morning on Apr. 9. Helga Pitts, Freda Brish, Helen Mark, Marge Carter and Betty Murphy were the early risers to gather friends and members from around the Valley.

Coffee and breakfast rolls were made and served by Shirley Garner, Florence Johnson and Shirley Kenyon.

News of the pending purchase of Tassajara Springs Lodge by R.Adm. (USN Ret.) and Mrs. L.J. Hudson of Pt. Lobos was released this week by their son, Supt. Thomas Hudson.

EASTER

Easter is known as a special occasion referring to Life resurrecting itself, Depending on how your religious persuasion or faith in your doctor prognosticates health.

Whatever the reason to ditch inhibitions, our Lenten resolves are all left in the lurch; We wolf a big breakfast, then honor traditions by needle and wheedle get father to church.

Then, weather permitting, we get back to normal, with over-indulgence to hasten demise.

Like birds and the fishes we're free and informal until some fine morning we're cut down to size.

So sometimes I wonder, when I break connection and slide down that slippery path to the grave, Will something like Easter confirm my election to start a new life, if I'm worthwhile to save?

So there I'd be naked, with nothing to hide me, and nothing to lean on except what I'd learned. I'm thinking right now if the soul that's inside me is worth a fresh chance, or just trash to be burned?

THE TOWN CRIER

By Rosemary Clifford

IT WAS A BEAUTIFUL SPRING DAY and a great turnout for the Wild Flower Walk on the Diamond N Ranch, with the very young, and the very, very adult attending. Lois Robinson generously let the populace walk over the hills of her ranch and view the season's best.

The last count totaled well over 30 varieties of flowers with such unusual names as Blue Dick, Sanicle, Footsteps of Spring and Meconilla.

Monte Ballou and Jim Ziegler assisted the hostess in conducting groups of walkers and giving such morsels of information as "Indians used the soap plant for washing" and flowering cucumber "was a poison ivy remedy".

The Wildflower Walks will continue for the next three Saturdays, beginning at 9:30 a.m. The meeting place: 1/4 mile from the west end of Miramonte Road.

THE SPRING FLOWERS may be out, but the snow lingers on the hills around.

THE ONE-WAY STRETCH on Carmel Valley Road still lures traffic in the WRONG WAY. Valleyites are finding it pretty terrifying to encounter an auto head-on at midnight, but the bolder law breakers even do it in the day time.

A GREATER NUMBER OF disciplinary problems at school exists in the Upper Valley than any other area in the CUSD it was noted at a panel meeting at the Parents Club at Tularcitos School last week.

Among reasons cited for such behavior is the lack of recreational facilities.....in fact, we are sadly lacking in such things as a park, or a public gathering place that is open for children. The Village is really an adult community catering to adult needs.

A GROWING NUMBER OF FLAGPOLES in the yards of Valley residents was noted this week as flags flew at half-mast for our former president, Dwight David Eisenhower. Monday was a day of mourning as our Village post office and Library closed their doors and the Bank of America pulled its blinds and observed a period of quiet.

TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

All Carmel Valley residents are bountifully blessed in having such a treasure as our dedicated and efficient First Aid crew.

A large group responded to our call for assistance with exceeding promptness. Maureen was prepared compassionately and methodically for a safe trip to the hospital after her unfortunate accident.

These self-sacrificing men are indeed living the Sermon on the Mount.

Just saying "thank you" doesn't seem adequate, but it will have to suffice. Mere words are poor vehicles for our deep gratitude.

Sincerely,

Leo and Mary Lou Berta

Dear Sir;

We hope the Supervisors and the Home Owners Association will continue to vote against any enlargement of the Retirement Homes in the Valley. Why should the home owner carry this extra burden?

Sincerely yours,
Anna MacGowan
Carmel Valley

P.S. Any addition would be a health hazard. The cesspools are inadequate and over-flowing. There is no sewage system.

Dear Editor:

I would like to take this means of reassuring my present neighbors and of alerting my former neighbors and friends.

The recent theft of my nineteen year old daughter's clothing took place in Robles del Rio, NOT in Hidden Hills.

Cordially,
Marjorie J. Carter
(Mrs. Joseph S. Carter)

Editor, Outlook:

Who is selling out Carmel Valley??

Suddenly the Carmel Valley Master Plan is in the hands of the County Planning Commission for 'Revisions'. We know all too well what those 'revisions' will be after hearing Mr. Branson's views on how the Valley should 'progress': low-cost housing crowded onto the Valley floor, creating slum conditions (thus nullifying the one acre minimum), four lane hiways through the village to his proposed dam and recreation sites, shopping centers mushrooming mile after mile (keeping the G zone in the plan), another Seaside growing without plan, an extension of the lower Valley's haphazard growth.

The Master Plan must not be tampered with. All that is necessary to bring the Plan up to date is as George A. Brown said to adopt an enabling ordinance to control slope density.

Why was the Master Plan taken out of the hands of competent men in the Valley who know and understand the problems here? How and why was it put into the hands of the political machine and without public knowledge or approval? Why didn't Mr. Kaminske make it known through the Outlook? The Planning Commission meeting for revision of the C.V. Master Plan has been set for April 10 and 11. The public should make its voice heard.

African fears U.S. immensity

(Courtesy The Sandpiper)

"I don't like to see the Blacks having to struggle for their rights," said Giovanni Mbwenu, a visiting senior student from Uganda, Africa, "but I think they are cutting down their opportunities by using violent methods in their 'soul movement'. When I came to America, I thought I would be lost in the race riots, money, and all the new and different people that I would meet," commented Giovanni, "and I found that my country had greatly exaggerated its immensity. They exaggerate incidents happening in America. They tell us about the Negro problems in America and make us almost hate the whites or almost hate the Blacks for killing a white."

In Giovanni's country whites make up only one or two per cent of the population, and the black people show no prejudice. These whites are teachers and Peace Corps members trying to modernize the educational and living conditions in Uganda.

Uganda's schools are drab boarding schools without co-educational benefits. Small enrollment (200 students), enables everyone to become acquainted with each other. Asking Giovanni why he came to the U.S., The Sandpiper was interested to find that he was invited to come to the United States to study for a year. "I saw the chance to learn more about agriculture. My wish is to learn to farm, to help myself and my people, and America was my chance to learn."

Community Hospital board reorganizes for coming year

Charles Chayne of Pebble Beach and James Murray of Monterey were elected new members of the Board of Trustees of Community Hospital at the annual membership meeting held at the hospital last week.

Murray, a financier, and Chayne, a former auto industry executive, were elected to succeed J.O. Handley and Loren Smith, who had served two consecutive three-year terms and were ineligible for re-election.

Re-elected to the board for their second terms were Mrs.

After Giovanni finished his week of school at Carmel High he told some of the students how he felt about the school, "I like how Carmel High looks. The people here are so much more different than the others I have met. They are so much more friendlier."

John M. Marble of Carmel Valley; J. Arch Butts of Monterey, auto dealer; and Arthur C. Stewart of Pebble Beach, oil corporation executive.

At the organizational board meeting following the general membership meeting, Dr. A. Carol McKenney, emeritus professor of clinical medicine of Stanford University Medical School was re-elected to his third term as president of the board.

Stewart was elected vice-president; Robert O. McMahan, former furniture corporation executive, was elected secretary; and Cyril Chappellet, aircraft corporation executive, was elected treasurer.

In his annual report, Dr. McKenney said: "Without question the big stories of the last 12 months are the actual commencement of work on Project '69 — the hospital's expansion — and the dramatic and successful completion of the fund drive needed to finance it."

The Board president said the $3,914,000 contract for the addition which will double the floor space at the hospital was awarded to Rothschild and Raffin of San Francisco and the completion date is now set for November 1970.

Dr. McKenney lauded the Auxiliary which donated over 45,000 hours of service during the year. He praised them for pledging $150,000 for the building fund. "We are deeply indebted to these remarkable volunteers from the community for the invaluable donations of time, effort and material support that they go on tirelessly giving to our hospital," he said.

Two Carmel Hi coeds compete next Thursday

Bank of America today named five judges to select zone winners from area high school students in the bank's annual Achievement Awards competition at Hartnell College in Salinas on Thursday, April 10.

The decision of these judges will boost four of 43 hopefuls into area finals and an opportunity to compete for $1,000 in cash awards next month in Fresno.

Drawn from business, the professions and civic groups, the zone judges will conduct round table discussions with the candidates on topics of general interest and subjects specifically related to their fields of study.

From the interviews, scholastic records and extracurricular activities, the judges will choose the four most well-rounded students to advance to the area finals.

Judges of the zone event are James R. Duffy, finance director of the City of Salinas; Russell Hoss, executive director of the Seaside Redevelopment Agency; Stanley L. Maynes, president of Wiebe Mfg. Co., Inc., Hollister; Frank D. Moller, Jr., controller of Granite Construction Co. in Watsonville; and Dr. Ralph Schroder, president of Gavilan College in Gilroy.

Moderator of the group discussions will be Dr. William D. Harwood, president of Hartnell College.

Serving as co-ordinator for the event is W.L. Spraggins, assistant vice-president-assistant manager in Bank of America's Salinas Main Office.

First place zone winners are chosen in each of four study fields — fine arts, science and mathematics, vocational arts, and liberal arts.

The four winners at the zone event are assured of $150 minimum prizes at the area finals, and will compete for other prizes ranging to the four first place grants of $1,000. Second and third place zone winners in each of the four fields receive $50 and $25 awards, respectively.

Local seniors participating in the zone event are:

Many vowed that the best part of the carnival was the pet show, but others said no, they liked the space tunnel, or the cake walk, or the shooting gallery.

And so it went! It was a festive day with all kinds of entertainment, including a Disney film, a fantasy by the Down Players and a train ride.

Food in abundance was in evidence with a popcorn stand, the Dine-a-Mite and a spaghetti dinner to round out the day.

The parents and teachers planned the day's activities. The funds received during the day will be used to buy playground equipment and some of the needed items for school rooms.

Carmel High bounces back in San Jose ball tourney

Carmel's Varsity Baseball Team bounced back to sweep a doubleheader Monday in the San Jose Lions Club Tournament,

Retired teacher's to meet April 16

The Monterey County division of the California Retired Teachers' Association will hold its bi-monthly luncheon meeting on Wednesday, April 16, at 1:00 p.m. at the Elks Lodge, 466 Airport Boulevard, Salinas.

Following the luncheon, the Police Department of Salinas will present its "PACE" program.

All retired teachers and their friends are invited to attend. Reservations should be made with Mrs. James Walker, 424-6566 (Salinas) by April 12.

after losing the opening round game to Samuel Ayer of San Jose, 6-0. Ayer is one of the tournament favorites.

To keep alive on the consolation side of the bracket, the Padres tripped John Kennedy of Fremont, 6-5, behind the 5-hit pitching of Lee Mark and the steady stick work of First-baseam Mitch Kastros and Jimmy DeAmaral, Center-fielder.

In the second game of the San Jose Tournament, Carmel bested Del Mar of the San Jose Westside League, 3-1, with Sophomore Tom Boyd allowing just 3 hits to get credit for the victory; once again DeAmaral and Kastros providing the timely hitting. Kastros in the 2 tilts collected 4 hits and DeAmaral collected 3.

Of the three games Carmel has played in the tournament, DeAmaral has been very impressive, batting a perfect 1000 percent, collecting 5 hits at the plate, walking 3 times and being hit by the pitcher twice. The fleet-footed DeAmaral also in the three game set stole 6 bases.

Carmel was to play Overfelt in the first game of a doubleheader during the double elimination tournament Tuesday. The Padres must win both to win the consolation finals.

NEXT BROADCAST

Next Carmel High baseball broadcast, over KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc, is Friday or Saturday evening from the Dad's Club Tournament, Soquel High School this weekend. Time for the cast is undetermined at press time, due to the fact seedings have not been made yet. It is understood, however, that the Padres will play both Thursday and Friday evening in the tournament.

Last Friday the local entry lost its second league game in as many starts, bowing to Palma at Salinas, 2-7. The steady pitching of Chieftan Mike Guiterrez, who gave up the only 2 Padre runs, and the 3-for-4 hitting of Shortstop Greg Gorman, who also banged out a home run, was enough for Palma's second straight conference victory without defeat, as a week earlier they downed San Lorenzo Valley, 8-3.

Mark again went the distance for Carmel, walking 9 and hitting 2 Chieftan batsmen, while striking out only 4.... considerably below his average. But Lee regained his form in the San Jose Tournament, after taking a rest in the opening round game that saw Carmel lose to Ayer, Senior Malcombe Hall being charged with the loss, and then pitching the 5-hitter against Kennedy to win.

In the Ayer loss, Hall gave up just 3 earned runs, and 4 costly Carmel errors didn't help him along, either. The 3 Padre hits in the Ayer game were collected by Hall, DeAmaral and Larry Rodriguez.

Three fire calls

Carmel Valley Volunteer Firemen responded to three calls during the week.

Controlled burning on the old Mathiot Ranch set fire to a palm tree. Flames were extinguished but the tree was badly damaged by fire and heat.

Smoke was reported Saturday at the Cottage Inn on Del-fino Place, but no trace of fire could be found.

Firemen answered a call about a car parked on Esquiline Road with a flat tire. Gasoline had poured on the road from the car's tank which was full of gas. Firemen washed the gas off the road.

There's reason to feel secure when your well-saved money is steadily earning 5% interest in the plan that suits you best. At Bank of America you can choose from several basic savings plans, any one of which may be just right for you. Take a look at these:

5% Investors Passbook Account

$500 will get this one started, and additional deposits can be made in amounts of $100 or more. Your 5% interest is compounded quarterly. You can make a withdrawal quarterly, too. Or leave your funds where they are to accumulate.

5% Time Certificate of Deposit

Bank of America Time Certificates also earn 5% annual interest. These certificates are issued for $1000 or more. They mature every 6 months. The 5% interest can be credited automatically to your savings account. Then your total annual rate of return can exceed 5%.

5% Five Year Guaranteed Certificate of Deposit

This is the long term interest guarantee plan.

Certificates are issued for a minimum of $1000. Five year guaranteed interest at 5% per year paid or credited quarterly. You may withdraw the full amount at the end of any quarter without loss of interest to that date.

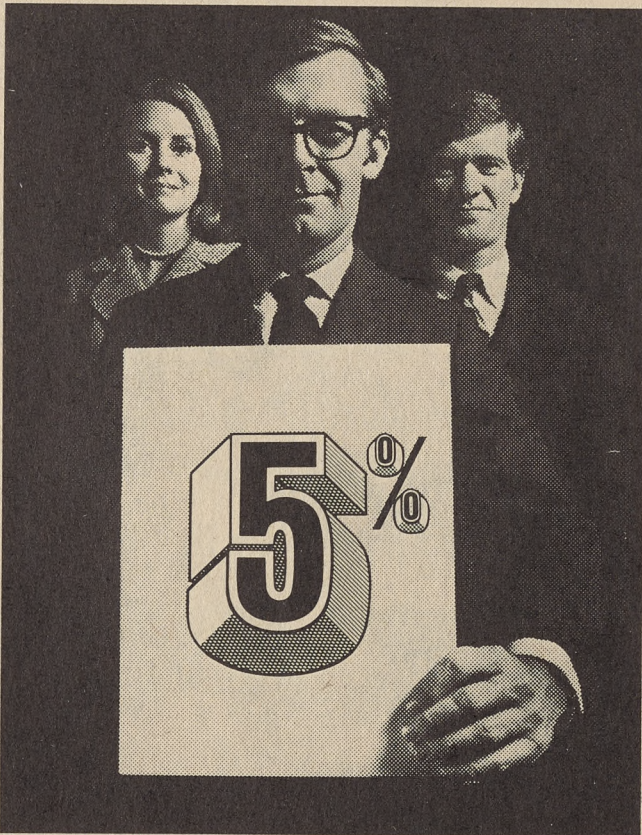

Regular 4% Savings Account

This is still the favorite plan of many because it's convenient, flexible, and at 4% it delivers the maximum interest allowed by law for this type of savings plan. You are free to put money in—any amount. And take it out—all or any part of it—at any time. Deposits made by the tenth of each quarter earn interest from the first of that month.

These are just four of our Personal Choice Savings plans to help your money grow with absolute certainty, and with full interest all the way. So why don't you stop by your local Bank of America branch and take your choice.

'Whodunit' thrills and chills at Circle Theatre

The Community Theatre has plopped "Ten Little Indians" in our midst and just what theatre-goer can resist this tantalizing 'whodunit'?

It opened to a capacity house at the Circle Theatre in Carmel Friday night and very likely will play to similar houses throughout its run over the next five weekends.

Agatha Christie's spine-chiller has been around for almost 30 years and has deservedly won 'classic' status.

Only the skilled pen of Agatha Christie could assemble a rag-tag lot of 10 weekenders, strangers on a strange little British island, and then proceed to rub them out, one by one, tantalizing one, until there are only two — or is it three?

The Community Theatre players, under the direction of Michael Keller, unwind this thriller most commendably.

The cast assembled for this grisly tale each has an intuitive feeling for his (or her) role, and hardly a false line is spoken all evening. If there was, it was quickly rubbed out as the next victim quietly (or blood-curdlingly) is dissolved from the living.

While the denouement involves Jean McBride (as Vera), Dan Cawthon (as Lombard) and W.H. Scholefield (as Wargrave), they share honors with most of the rest of the cast with somewhat lesser roles.

Betty Fowlston (Emily Brent) as the paranoiac moralist was splendid, and as much can easily be said for Bob Lotz (MacKenzie), whose mentally-failing general disintegrates before your very eyes.

Then there was Tim Gleeson who had one of the more difficult assignments as Blore, who was a mystery within a mystery. Milton Hayes, Harry Graham, Ruth McElroy, Mark Oman and John Sullivan were all excellent in their supporting roles.

The sound technician had a busy evening too, helping to set some of the moods and adding to the macabre atmosphere. Martin Brown can take a deep bow for his excellent contribution too. And Mabel Craig, the costume co-ordinator, can be deservedly commended for her fine work.

Even though "Ten Little Indians" may be one of the cleverest mystery stories ever put together, built as it is around a 'nursery' rhyme (nursery?), anyone who undertakes its staging is confronted with a great number of challenges if the proper atmosphere of suspicion, believability of action and reaction, eeriness and blood-lust, are all to properly chill and horrify the audience.

Director Keller coaxed a maximum effort out of each of his players, and in this kind of play, it takes a maximum effort to pull it off.

DR. HARRIS TAYLOR buys a ticket from Grace Lim, Carmel's Exchange Student from Malaysia. Grace and the rest of the Carmel American Field Service members are selling tickets to the fund raising film to be presented April 23 and 24. The full-length color movie, "John F. Kennedy, Years of Lightning - Day of Drums" will show for five performances: April 23, at 2:00, 4:30, and 9:30 p.m. and April 24 at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. For tickets, contact Mrs. Richard Sippel, 624-1788 or Mrs. Gordon Clemens, 624-4922.

Film benefits exchange program

Five film performances depicting the presidency of John F. Kennedy will be given as a fund raising project of the Carmel Chapter of American Field Service at the Carmel Village Theater on April 23 and 24.

American Field Service exchange students benefit from the project that now has a student, Grace Lim of Sabah, Malaysia, living with the Jack Bruce family of Rancho Rio Vista.

In the American Abroad program, there are three girls from this area benefiting from the exchange project. Sharon Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stuart will return in June from a year in Vienna where she lived with an Austrian family.

Lynn Fryback, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William Fryback of Carmel Knolls, has just left for Japan where she will live with the Haru Ota family and go to school in Kamakura.

Athena Shudde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Shudde of Carmel Meadows, left in February for Argentina where she will live with a family in Santa Fe, Argentina.

Ronald Marlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oda Marlin of Los Ranchitos, is in Italy as an exchange student, but is not a member of the Carmel Chapter, having been selected while his family was living in Taft before moving to the Valley.

UNDER THE OAKS & AMONG THE CACTI

By Mildred Hattan

TOUR OF MEMORABLE HOMES

May Day has been selected by the Carmel Valley Women's Club for a repeat of one of the Valley's most popular type benefits....A HOUSE TOUR!

Mrs. Mark Fields, chairman, and her committee have tilted their sun bonnets at a rakish angle, rolled up their leg 'o mutton sleeves, and dedicated themselves and their project to compliment the coming California Bicentennial celebration.

The past and the future are dramatically linked as one retraces the steps of Valley history from the space pioneers among the Yuccas and Cacti at the Cachagua Comsat Earth Station to the early day settlers and Indians who made their way down the Valley under the oaks and to the historic Mission.

Driving out to take the tour on May 1, it will be necessary to pass near the Mushroom Farm, "the Las Cruces" or "El Encino del Descanso", which were names given to the large oak tree which stood at the end of the Garreta Road. Here, the Indians rested after carrying a litter of their dead and while waiting for an oxcart to take the remains to the Mission, would carve a cross for each of their departed on the old oak.

"Fiesta De Los Amigos", the name of a memorable Fiesta held 20 years ago and revived again two years ago will be used again as the theme for the house tour, according to Mrs. Boyd Huff, co-chairman. The tickets now on sale are $3.00 with all donations going toward the Women's Club charities. Tickets include a tea at Holman's Guest Ranch. (Wonder how many old timers at this time of year remember the Easter Egg Hunts for every child in the community which were held at the romantic Holman Hacienda?)

Out of town guests at the Spanish Ball which climaxed the Fiesta De Los Amigos at the Holman Ranch found it hard to believe that the tiny senorita in a lace mantilla and Spanish costume who had served as hostess for the day long Fiesta, runs the 500 acre cattle ranch. When her husband, C.E. Holman, died in 1962, Vivian took over and continues to operate both the guest quarters and raising of cattle.

Tour takers will find floors of hand-made tile, and massive furnishings, many of them antiques which date back to the Spanish occupation of California.

Hand hewn is the 18 foot long mantle over the fireplace and hand adzed of oak are the front door and the ceiling beams.

Warning! Be sure to save this until last. Stronger hearts than yours have been lost to the swallows in the courtyard, the view of oak studded hillsides, and the cool interior of the main house with its highly polished woods!

The other nine stops on the tour will include historic ranchos to super-modern homes, all but one occupying land which was once the Rancho Los Laureles, a 70,000 acre Mexican land-grant deeded to Manuel Jose Boronda in 1830 and extending one mile east of the present Carmel Valley Village, five miles west of the Village, and from mountain top to mountain top to the north and south.

Los Laureles (which means the laurels or a crown of bays as a reward) Lodge was the site of the original Boronda ranch buildings, rebuilt in the 1890's for guests from the old Del Monte Hotel who came by buggy to enjoy the Valley sunshine.

Mrs. Muriel Vanderbuilt Phelps purchased the ranch in 1936 for her famous string of racing horses. It was remodeled into a lodge in 1945.

Many old timers were incensed in 1949 when it was learned that three small graves behind the lodge had been destroyed. The headstone which bore the inscription "Esther, beloved daughter of Kinsea and Ella Klinkinbeard. Born May 25th, 1872. Age 3 years, five months, 10 days. Though lost to sight, To memory dear" was salvaged by Bettie and Joe Algrava.....wonder what ever became of it?

Across the street, the Robert McDonald home will be opened. It is remodeled from stables built by Muriel Vanderbuilt Phelps.

The Middle Canyon Road, site of the Tantamount Theater, was also a portion of this famous ranch. Here, world renowned puppeteers, Ralph Geddis and Francois Martin transport their audiences to that wonderful land of Makebelieve; return to the screen at some time EVERYONE'S favorite motion picture classic; and provide the setting an artist can only dream about for countless one-man shows.

High atop Country Club Drive, the mood swings to modern at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Hilton. Built of post adobe on several levels, the luxurious California ranch style home affords a spectacular view of the Valley.

Visitors at the White Oaks Theater will find the ultra modern theater training center so fascinating that they will undoubtedly plan to return during their vacation months to view summer stock in repitery.

The Carmel Valley Art Gallery is the remodeled ranch house of the 1,000 acre farm that now contains the Village proper. It was here that the original CARMEL post office was housed and residents from our neighboring village had to ride here to pick up their mail. Hence when their own post office was built, the title "Carmel-by-the-Sea" was coined to avoid the understandable confusion.

Wonder how many early Valleyans can remember "Janet of California"? Mrs. Janet Buchanan Armond, fresh from two weeks in Europe, opened a leather shop in the White Oaks Inn featuring handmade handbags, belts and other made-to-order accessories. In addition to her made-to-order wholesale and mail order trade she also opened what was known as the Carmel Valley Craft Center.

The next stop on the tour is the home and studio of Jean Hofasa (newly remodeled from the same farm's original "bunk house"). Jean has utilized a tweed carpeting throughout which nicely shows off her many antique treasures such as a pair of charming lamps made from antique coppey milk cans, marked "Oakland Dairy."

Many will remember when the land behind the White Oaks Inn was the location for several years of Sunrise Easter Services. In 1948, an estimated 500 persons attended from as far as "25 miles away!" The non-sectarian impressive service which began at 6:15 featured an organist, a children's choir, and even a Knights Templar group who attended in uniform.

On Salsuipedes in Robles Del Rio, nestled under the oaks in a glorious setting of rhododendrons and azaleas, is the home of Mrs. Bettie O'Neal. Overlooking Porter's Pool, named for the pioneer family of Frank Porter, who built the home which provided the interesting setting for Betty Antoncich's teenage mystery novel.

Always a coveted addition to a tour is the old world charm of the "Double H Ranch", named for the late Helen and Henry Potter Russell. Mrs. Russell, was the daughter of the late William H. Crocker, who was one of the banking titans of the West and a public benefactor. Mrs. Russell devoted most of her life to causes that enriched her city, her state and her nation.

What might be called the Valley's San Simeon, the magnificent home is built of treasures collected from all over the world.....a mosaic basin from Portugal, wood work from Spain, and housed a multitude of art. She was chairman of the women's board of the San Francisco Art Museum.

The spicy sweet fragrance of rose petals can never help but remind one of the large urns of petals used throughout her home. The gracious touch of a gracious lady, "The Double H" is now used as a country home by her son, Charles, and his family and guests from San Francisco.

Be sure to circle your calendar: "May 1, from 10 till 4. You won't want to miss this glimpse of the Valley's past, present and future" say Mrs. Irving Ollason and Mrs. Tom Bottaro, publicity chairmen for the event.

Carmel Valley riders do well at Spring Horse Show

A total of 115 entries were judged at the Spring Horse Show sponsored by the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club. Officials attributed the success of the day partially to the Valley's sudden 'heat wave' and partially to the contestants who were priming their horses for the Cow Palace Junior Show in San Francisco and also garnering points toward the California State Horsemen's junior program awards.

Ringmaster for the day was Dr. Robert Fries of Carmel. Capt. Gene Bartlett of Seaside served as arena director; Mrs. Howard Carter, of Salinas, Mrs. Richard Zoellin of Carmel Valley, and Mrs. William Lewis of Carmel as show secretaries. Mrs. Hiram Bishop served as show manager. The refreshment booth was manned by the Carmel Valley Lions Club.

Gene Fairchild of the Valley Archery in Salinas furnished the trophies. Show results are as follows:

Judges Peter Pedrazzi, Salinas and Ronald Stollish, Salinas.

High Point Western Rider - Carole Neely, Los Gatos.

High Point English Rider - Nancy Bottero, Carmel.

High Point Gymkhana Rider - Cindy Cook, Los Altos Hills.

Planners advise one-acre lots

It was recommended that the projected Valle Carmel subdivision at Carmel Valley and Meadows roads be zoned for 21 one-acre lots and that a design control be required when the Monterey County planning commissioners met last week.

Deletion of a Semi-annual road maintenance condition in the use permit for Milton Frumkin's Saddle Mountain Recreation Park at the end of Schulte Road in lower Carmel Valley was recommended.

In another action of the commission it was recommended that a special permit be issued to Marsha Bagby for a dental laboratory in her home at 290 Corral de Tierra Rd. The five-year permit, opposed by Commissioners Peter Cailotto and Nora Hare, prohibits employees or advertising.

Cookery Corner

BY MRS. B.C. FORRESTER

A most fascinating display of ad lib cooking, that is cooking without recipe, took place in St. Dunstan's Parish Hall on March 19.

Mrs. Heidi von Pagenhardt, president of St. Dunstan's ECW Guild had arranged the program. Mrs. Carlton Wood and Mrs. Wood's "Right Hand" Marian Smith, both ladies from Pacific Grove, cooked in the manner of the Far East and served the delicious results to the Guild members and their guests.

Mrs. Wood, a former missionary of the Presbyterian Church in India, lived for some years in that country. Eating what the Indian people ate, living as they lived, she became an expert in preparing their food. Spice and curry were her daily diet, and most of her recipes feature that type of cooking, which incidentally lends a little "up" to an American meal.

East Indian cookery is not for everyone, but can be fun for the experienced cook who tastes, adds a little of this or that, puts ingredients together by handful or pinch, and creates a masterpiece. That is exactly what Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Smith did. They made a fun game of cooking, and good friends of their audience. Any mistakes in following recipes should not be held against THEM.

Here are three easy-to-make recipes:

PURIS (PUFF PASTE)

2 cups all purpose flour 2 Tbp shortening (lard, margarine, etc.)

Crumble these two together.

1 cup water and pinch of salt should be added. Knead this dough at least 25 min. or until very elastic. Let stand about 30 min. Break off small piece about the size of a walnut. Place ball on lightly floured board. Roll out very thin to about size of saucer, keeping dough circular in shape.

Heat fat in skillet to boiling point.

Drop in circular pieces and keep spooning hot fat over them until they bubble forms.

Remove from skillet.

This wafer, or bread is much used in India. Served with the meal it is used to scoop up curries or sweets. Or the circle of dough can be filled with vegetables or meat curries and twisted into little dough bags and fried in deep fat about 30 minutes.

GULAR JAMAN

A much used sweet in the East, this is made with KOA, the base for most sweet pastry.

Crumble 1 cup Koa. Add 1/3 cup all purpose flour.

Roll between floured palms small pieces about walnut size. Fry in deep fat until thoroughly cooked.

Heat to boiling, 3 cups sugar to 1 cup water, until thick syrup is formed.

Drop dough balls into hot syrup. When thoroughly cooked remove balls and serve as dessert.

KOA

KOA is made by steaming 3 cans of condensed milk in double boiler for about eight hours, stirring every so often. This produces 1 lb. of Koa, which is then used as in the recipe for Gular Jaman.

Russian noblewoman finds tranquility in Carmel Valley

MRS. VALENTINA VERNON

Mrs. Valentina Vernon, proprietor of the La Bagatelle shop in Carmel Valley Village, is no ordinary shop-keeper.

Mrs. Valentina Vernon was, in fact, born in Czarist Russia as Baroness Benninghausen Boodberg.

The daughter of a former Russian Secretary of War, Mrs. Vernon was a young, married noblewoman during the Russian Revolution of 1917.

She still recalls the first months after the revolution: "My youngest brother, my husband, and I could not get out. It was terrible — the Bolsheviks were shooting everybody."

Eventually, in 1918, Mrs. Vernon escaped from Russia via a small boat on the Black Sea. She then went to Yugoslavia to await the arrival of her husband, who was fighting in the White Army in its final fateful days. After the collapse of the White Army, husband and wife were reunited in Yugoslavia.

Mrs. Vernon's mother and father, meanwhile, had escaped Russia to the east and taken asylum in Japan. After several months of complicated arrangements and difficult travel, the two families met in Palo Alto, California, nearly two years after the outbreak of the Communist Revolution.

"Baroness Boodberg" subsequently settled in San Francisco, opened a Russian restaurant on Sutter Street, and changed her name to Madame Varipaef. The restaurant, which she operated for more than 14 years, was staffed almost exclusively with Russian refugees. Mrs. Vernon remembers her early years in San Francisco with great enthusiasm. "San Francisco was a wonderful city," she recalls, "a city of gentlemen."

After living variously in Long Beach, San Mateo, and again in San Francisco, Mrs. Vernon moved to Carmel Valley eight years ago. Once again, she opened a restaurant — the familiar Cottage Inn Restaurant in the Village. After seven successful years, she sold the restaurant in June, 1968, to open La Bagatelle.

Mrs. Vernon, who rather grudgingly admits to being "over twenty-one", is now the happy keeper of her small, colorful shop, next door to the Carmel Valley Post Office. Her shop contains an assortment of prize-winning dolls, various types of artwork and knickknacks, in addition to take-out soups and pastry — all of which are homemade by the former Russian baroness.

SERVICE OF LESSONS AND ANTHEMS will be held at the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, Tuesday, at 8 p.m. Mr. Warren Coker, organist and director of the service, rehearses with an octet of Peninsula singers. From left are Robert Armstead, Robert McKelvey, Morris Dill, James Hull, Glenna Deweese, Betty Jane Johnson, Beverly Broome, and Helen Wheeler. The group will perform works of Parry, Brahms, Bach, Corelli, Arcadelt, Purcell, Faure, Vaughn-Williams, Sampson, Willan, and York. Readers for the service will be the Rev. Burkert Cree, Rev. Donald Johnson, Rev. Newton Holder, Canon Edwin Moss, and Dr. George Throngate. The church is located one mile up Carmel Valley road from Highway 1.

CUSD recommends more art, music for schools

More instruction in art and music was recommended for fifth grade students in the Carmel Unified School District at a school board meeting Wednesday, March 19.

James Halcomb, assistant superintendent of instructional services, recommended that all fifth graders in the Carmel School District receive additional instruction in the fine arts, and suggested also that community residents might be utilized to aid in the teaching.

ARROW PIN-POINTS SPOT where Merenolanded after a fall down the cliff. His cries for help were heard by Mabel Love walking on the opposite side of the river. She summoned volunteer firemen as did Herb Dockery who heard the cries above the hum of his lawn mower. Mereno suffered a fractured leg and multiple bruises.

IN PURSUIT OF A SUNBATH near the Carmel River, George Mereno, 27, of the Rippling River Ranch, fell 100 feet down a cliff last week. He is shown being rescued by the Carmel Valley firemen who administered first aid and transported him by Red Cross ambulance to the Monterey Hospital. Traffic on Carmel Valley Road faces uncertain future

SALINAS (CNA) - The time for restoration of full traffic on Carmel Valley road 1/4 mile east of the Joan Baez school cannot still be set, Bruce McClain, county road department head, reported last week to the Board of Supervisors.

The present detour for west-bound traffic, using Los Laureles grade and Miramonte road, will not be necessary in the near future, according to McClain. He said the slip-out on Carmel Valley road can be corrected before summer.

The one-way traffic on the same road, near Wagon Wheel, will be corrected sooner, he added.

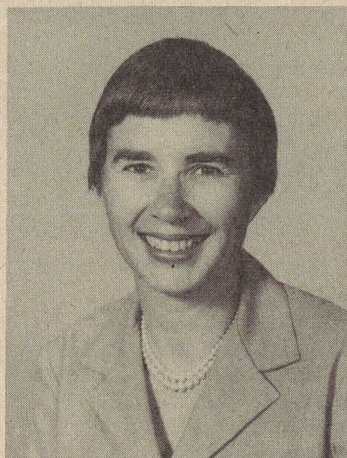

The damage done to the Carmel River bridge at Robinson Canyon road will also be corrected before summer, McClain reported, but he added that he cannot predict when the slides and slipouts on the same road in two others places will be mended.

Early repairs on the Tasajara road are expected, the road department official said.

Candidates vie for school board

Brochures of two of the candidates for the CUSD board, Rev. Brock and Reginald Dewar were covered by the Outlook last week. This week, Mrs. Sanford and James Miller present their platforms.

BARBARA B. SANFORD

A resident of Carmel Valley, Barbara B. Sanford is a graduate of Stanford University with a B.A. in Economics. She took a fifth year in education at Fresno State College.

She is married to William A. Sanford, head of the art department at King Jr. High School. Their four children are Elizabeth, 14, and William, 10, who attend Middle School; Mark, 7, Carmelo; and Byrne, 4, will enter school in the fall.

Mrs. Sanford is affiliated with St. Dunstan's Church, Carmel Valley Racquet Club, Carmelo Parents Club, Middle School Parents Club, Monterey Peninsula Symphony Guild, Auxiliary to Community Hospital, Associate Member Punch & Judy Chapter, C.H.S., and Stanford Alumni Association.

"WOMAN NEEDED"

"For ten years I have had children attending Carmel schools," Mrs. Sanford stated. "There is a definite feeling in the community that a qualified intelligent and knowledgeable woman would be a positive asset to the school board and would give the district a better balanced, and more diversified board."

Mrs. Sanford states that although there have been vast changes and improvements, there are still areas which need improvement - the elementary report card, the inequality of education at the elementary level, a constant review of curriculum, possibly adding home-making to the high school, and stressing English at the elementary level.

Her long range goal is to make the Carmel Unified School District the top ranking system in this state.

"My aim is to improve the communication between parents, educators and the community, and to make this community aware of its responsibilities to youth and cognizant of the outstanding programs which take place in the school," she said.

JAMES I. MILLER

James I. Miller, co-owner and manager of a Monterey business, received a B.S. in Business Administration at the University of California. He was in the U.S. Naval Reserve for 17 years and is a member of the following service organizations: Monterey Peninsula Jaycees, Rotary Club, First Presbyterian Church, Pacheco Club, and Carmel Valley Tennis Club.

He has three children, two attending River School.

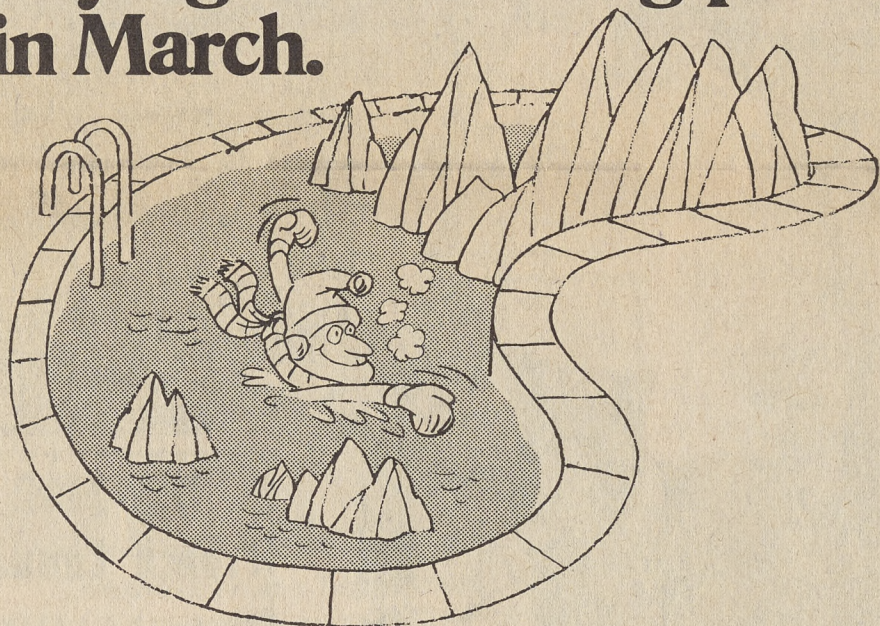

Miller said that it is his desire that the district provide challenging educational programs for all youth. These programs should be planned to educate and prepare students for life, with equal concern for our non college bound students as well as our college preparatory students, he said.

He felt that only through efficient economical management of schools can the highest level of excellence in education within tax resources be achieved.

He stated that it is important that the school board include members from varied backgrounds, and that there be represented a member with business management experience.

"I will dedicate the necessary time and effort to perform my obligations as trustee of the school district and will serve to improve communications between the school, the parents, and the public," he said.

The cold facts about buying a swimming pool in March.

1. You save cold cash—up to 20 per cent on fully-equipped pools with Anthony's off-season March discounts. You can actually get an Anthony pool for as little as $2,495.* How low can you get?
2. Your payments are frozen till May and payments can be as little as $10.00 a week.* And with your good credit there's no down payment.
3. To break the ice during March, Anthony gives you, with a heated pool, its exclusive Fun Spa absolutely free. The Fun Spa turns one corner of your pool into a miniature bubbling "warm springs".
4. Because of more relaxed winter schedules, March construction crews give you highest quality.

5. March pool construction insures that the area surrounding the pool can be fully improved and landscaped in time for summer swimming.

6. March air may be chilling but when your pool is heated between 80 and 90 degrees with the exclusive Anthony heater—it's a warm and wonderful pleasure.

7. Biggest March advantages apply always. Since Anthony is the world's largest pool builder, you get the advantage of vast engineering experience and, because of Anthony's volume business, lower prices. Most important—the Anthony guarantee also holds water. Phone the sales office nearest you. If you're out of area, call collect. Or fill out coupon.

Calendar approved for new school year

A 1969-70 School Calendar was approved by the Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees at their March 19 meeting.

The new calendar has school opening September 4, 1969, and closing for summer vacation on June 11, 1970. Sandwiched in between these two dates are 179 teaching days.

Vacation periods will include Nov. 27 and 28, Thanksgiving; Dec. 22 - Jan. 5, Christmas; and, March 23 - 27, Easter, in addition to the usual holidays.

SPCA warns against pets for Easter

Parents are warned about seasonal pets received at Easter, by the Monterey County SPCA.

Baby chicks, baby ducks and small turtles (sometimes painted to add to their allure) can possibly carry a disease known as Salmonellosis. This bacteria, Salmonella, is somewhat similar to the one found in food poisoning and causes about the same symptoms in humans. Salmonellosis can be severe, causing gastro-intestinal inflammation and poisoning.

In the case of rabbits, there is always the risk of Tularemia, a disease carried by rabbits, transmitted to humans by touching a diseased rabbit. Rabbits are also 'host carriers' of the tape worm, which dogs and cats are susceptible to.

The Monterey County SPCA would also remind parents that baby rabbits (in fact all very young animals) need special housing, special food and special care.

CUSD may suffer

budget cut, tax

loss next year

The Carmel Unified School District may lose as much as $100,000 in income next year because of possible federal budget cuts and property tax reductions according to Superintendent Harris Taylor.

Public Law 875, which provides for federal funds to school districts teaching military dependents, may be cut from the $500 million allocation of last year to $275 million, he said, making a reduction of $50,000 to the district.

Because of the reduction of property taxes voted in the November election last year, between $35,000 and $50,000 will be lost.

The district's normal budget is around $3 million.

MARCHING TO THE NEW SIGN of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, the choir walks past the temporary sign which was removed during the dedication ceremony. Leading the group are Valley residents, Dr. George Seckman, Ed Powers, Herbert Blanks, Carmel; and Vic Harber. The redwood timber for the new sign was originally part of the old Pfeiffer Canyon Bridge below Big Sur. Artist and sculptor Harry Dick Ross, hand-carved the background and letters while Valley residents Davin and Grant Risdon contributed their work in joining timbers and fitting and mounting.

Ten candidates to appear Monday at Tularcitos

A final opportunity for Valley residents to hear the six candidates for the governing board of the Carmel Unified School District as well as candidates for the Monterey county board of education and the Monterey Peninsula College board of trustees will be given Monday at 8 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Tularcitos School.

The special community event is being sponsored by the Tularcitos Parents Club at the school, located one block off Carmel Valley Road on Ford Road at the intersection of Via Contentta.

The April 15 election will see two contestants running for the vacancy in the Monterey County Board of Education, John N. Shephard, incumbent and Richard Bragg, Carmel. The two vacancies on the Monterey Peninsula College Board of Trustees which offer no contest, will be sought by the two incumbents, Sherman W. Smith, Seaside, and Ralph B. Atkinson, Coast Route.

Candidates for the board of education of the CUSD are the incumbent Rev. James W. Brock and Barbara B. Sanford, Carmel Valley; Mrs. Eldon E. Gill, Mrs. Ruth Fill Morrice, and James I. Miller, Carmel; and Reginald W. Dewar, Big Sur.

After brief statements from the panel, the meeting will be open for questions and discussions from the members of the audience.

Carmel Valley represents about 45% of all elementary school enrollment, 58% of Middle School and 47% of Carmel High School.

Valley girl fractures both legs in accident

Compound fractures of both legs resulted from an accident last week when Mary Lou Berta, 18, lost control of the motorcycle she was operating and plunged over a bank on the Hilltop Ranch Road.

Miss Berta, daughter of Leo Berta, E. Carmel Valley Road, was transported by Carmel Valley Volunteer Firemen, who took her to the Community Hospital in the Red Cross ambulance.

Music Society announces results of auditions

The Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society announces the results of the auditions for young, gifted musicians held Saturday, March 22nd in the Music Hall of Monterey Peninsula College.

In the piano division, Miss Ruth Mirikitani was given the Music Scholarship award. A resident of Marina, Miss Mirikitani is a student of Wade Parks. Honorable mention in this division was given to Miss Rosanne Conway, Brian R. Iwai, Claude Posella and Miss Nancy Yuen.

The String Division award was granted to E. Andrew deLoris, student of Michael Rosenker and resident of Pebble Beach.

Judges were Mrs. Walter Alfred de Martini, Mrs. Ella Molas and Mr. William van den Burg. It was difficult for the judges to make a decision, each student was so gifted.

The Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society will present the winners later in the year.

Tree hit in Village

Festival of Grape set for May 18

The date for the Festival of the Grape has been set for Sunday, May 18 at the Rancho Del Monte Country Club, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The annual fund raising event for the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center is headed by Mrs. Rex Pryor.

The Cypress Swim Club will perform as well as additional programmed entertainment.

Judge Baugh speaks to Kiwanis Club

Where there is a will, there is a way, was clearly demonstrated by Judge Ray Baugh, when he spoke before the Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club last week at the Rippling River Resort.

Retiring from the bench seven years ago, Judge Baugh spends his summers in Oregon on the Upper Klamath Lake for fishing.

In spite of losing an arm when he was 16 and without sight of the left eye for many years, Judge Baugh is a better than average golfer, participated in high school and collegiate sports and played on the Stanford soccer team.

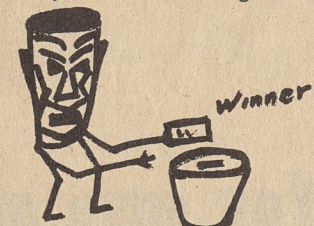

His adaptations to his handicaps clearly show there is a way and he had the will.

Judge Baugh is a member of the Monterey Kiwanis Club and an honorary member of the Carmel Valley club. He has a record of 42 years perfect attendance.
